Partner Counseling & Referral Services (PCRS)

Disease Intervention Specialists (DIS) workers are state employees trained to interview, counsel, and locate sexual and/or drug using partners of individuals with HIV and/or a sexually transmitted disease, and notify them of their possible risk of exposure.

PCRS, also known as Partner Notification, is a voluntary service. Notification is always face-to-face and in private, to assure that the person being informed is the same as the person who was named by the partners.

All information is confidential. The DIS worker is not notified of the client's name, and his/her information is never revealed or acknowledged. No records are kept – notes are shredded and burned after notifications are performed.

Other Health Services

HIV Post-Exposure Prophylaxis (PEP)

HIV post-exposure prophylaxis (PEP) is the use of antiretroviral drugs as soon as possible after a high-risk exposure to HIV, to reduce (but not eliminate) the possibility of HIV infection.

Treatment should be started promptly, preferably within the first several hours after an exposure. It should be administered within 48 hours of a high-risk exposure (not to exceed 72 hours). After 72 hours PEP is considerably less effective in preventing HIV infection. The sooner PEP is administered, the more effective it is.

PEP is only recommended for high risk exposures such as:
Unprotected vaginal or anal sex with known (or likely) HIV positive partner
Injection drug use needle exposure
Needlestick or other puncture/cut from a sharp
Sexual assault survivor
Non-intact skin (open cut or wound) or mucus membrane (eyes, nose, mouth, etc) contact with blood

The sites listed below can provide post-exposure prophylaxis to prevent HIV. For clinical consultation regarding administering PEP, clinicians should call:

Additional Considerations for Sexual Assault Victims

In addition to offering an immediate referral for HIV post-exposure prophylaxis (PEP) to sexual assault victims, Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners (SANEs) should be referred to whenever possible.

SANEs are specially trained and certified professionals skilled in performing quality forensic medical-legal exams. The SANEs are available by beeper and respond immediately to the designated SANE site ready to care for the victim of a sexual assault age 12 and over.
